

"How can you make the greatest contribution - with your strengths, your way of performing, and your values - to the performance and results of your organization?"
after Peter Drucker, The Essential Drucker

- Write your organization's strategic goals in the spaces at the top.
- Identify three results you produce in your work.
- In the oval, write the result that you think makes the most important contribution to your organization and connect it to the strategic objective it contributes to achieving.